What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files placed on your device when you visit a website. They help the site remember your preferences and understand how you use it. They do not identify you personally.

How we use cookies

The Dream for Trees website uses cookies for two purposes only: to make the site function correctly (strictly necessary cookies) and to understand how visitors use the site so we can improve it (analytics cookies). We do not use advertising or tracking cookies.

Strictly necessary cookies

These are essential for the website to work. They cannot be switched off. They do not store any personally identifiable information.

Analytics cookies

We use Google Analytics to understand how visitors find and use our site. This data is anonymous and aggregated. Analytics cookies are only set with your consent.

Your choices

When you first visit our site, you will be asked whether to accept analytics cookies. You can change your preferences at any time via the cookie settings link in our footer. You can also disable cookies in your browser settings, though this may affect how the site works.

Third-party cookies

Google Analytics is a third-party service. We have configured it to anonymise IP addresses. We do not share your data with Google for any other purpose.

Further information

This Cookie Policy should be read alongside our Privacy Policy. For more information about cookies generally, visit ico.org.uk.
